- does not finance air transfers for follow up appointments or screening analyses;
 - does not manage the selection and activation of hospitals/sanitary structures.

The applicant also declares that the Flying Angels privacy policy has been filled in all its parts and signed by a parent and/or a legal guardian of the minor, who was given a brief oral explanation on the content of the document. Specifically, it must be explicitly explained to the parent and/or legal guardian that failure to consent to image usage will not affect in any way the possibility of providing the service to the minor.

RESERVATION

In case of acceptance by the Scientific Committee of Flying Angels Foundations, the applicant will be informed via e-mail, and will be asked to supply the following information via email to voli@flyingangelsonlus.org:

- departure and return dates;
- departure and return cities;
- valid passports and visas of all the passengers.

Once all the details/documents are received, Flying Angels will suggest the best travel solutions, the most suitable option to the applicant, in order to make a non-binding reservation.

Round-trip tickets will only be issued after the applicant has accepted the offer, and sent the required Visas. Ticket can be modified only by paying a penalty fee (based on the fare conditions). It will be possible to purchase tickets while waiting for visa issuance in exceptional cases and only if the applicant declares to bear all expenses in case of cancellation or change, not due to Flying Angels.

Tickets are purchased as roundtrip (excluding exceptional cases agreed between the applicant and Flying Angels) and the applicant must carefully check that all ticket information - such as name, last name, birthdate, departure date, return date and itinerary of the flight- are correct and, if needed, promptly report any mistakes up to 6 pm on the day of issue, via e-mail (voli@flyingangelsonlus.org).

In the event of an error not communicated in due time, for which additional costs will be required, Flying Angels will not bear the penalties, that will be charged to the applicant.

Flying Angels does not refund flight tickets bought directly by an applicant, without prior involvement and consent of the Foundation.

Flying Angels will reserve and purchase tickets through its own channels, ensuring the best service for children and medical staff, as well as the most convenient rates.

In case of medical missions, flight reservation and ticket purchase through other channels (financed by the Foundation), will have to be previously agreed with Flying Angels.

In case of children's flights, the Foundation always books the tickets but, in case the applicant has an agency of reference, Flying Angels will evaluate the most manageable and cheapest ticket solution for the child, also through above mentioned alternative channels.

POSTPONEMENTS/ANTICIPATIONS/NO-SHOW

It is possible to postpone a return flight after tickets issuance and FAF will pay penalties up to a maximum of two times, only for the following medical reasons:

- extension of the permanence due to further medical treatment;
- post-treatment complications that will prevent the patient from leaving the country;
- post-treatment examinations and follow-up checks scheduled for after the return date, that cannot be moved up.
- majeure force reasons.

It is mandatory to submit a medical certificate proving clinical needs of the child.

In case of anticipated return, FAF will cover penalty fees only for medical reasons and/or extenuating circumstances and upon evaluation. The submission of a medical certificate proving clinical needs of the child is mandatory.

If, during the stay, the companion asks to anticipate only his/her return due to personal reasons, FAF will not cover any penalty costs/expenses related to ticket change.

The applicant must contact the Foundation for any change at least 48 work hours before the date: in case of no-show, not communicated changes in due time, or delay at the check-in, Flying Angels will no more fund the ticket. Besides, missed ticket costs will be charged to the applicant (if reimbursement by the airline is not possible). In the event of repeated violations by the applicant of the obligation above, which entails unnecessary expenses, the Foundation reserves the right to revoke the applicant's ability to present other cases/requests for the following 6 months.

If the child and his/her companion will not return home, for non-medical reasons (bureaucratic, legal, personal...) and the issued return ticket will not be refunded (the reimbursement of the round-trip ticket that has already been used for the departure occurs only in the case of death of the passenger) the partial cost of the ticket will be charged to the applicant.

DEATHS

- In case of death of the patient, the return of the companion is always guaranteed;
- The Foundation does not manage the repatriation of the bodies.

VISAS SUPPORT

In case of children arriving to Italy, an applicant might need support for visas release by Italian institutions (consulates and embassies).
